The establishment of AROHE as a 501(c)3 organization did not remain tentative, and that we always have the option before us to establish the 501(c)3 organization. AROHE has a mission to promote the establishment of and participation in retirement organizations in higher education. AROHE's activities and services have been available to members and non-members alike. The summary of your accomplishments, adventures or interests is a wonderful way to share your story with others. It can also be a valuable tool for networking and building relationships.
